UK NEQAS 2020 Parasitology Teaching Programme – COVID19 Response

In light of the current COVID 19 pandemic, UK Universities used as our teaching venues have moved their teaching programmes online in order to avoid face to face teaching. Therefore, with much regret, the UK NEQAS Parasitology teaching courses for this year 2020 which are due to start in June cannot be guaranteed to take place on the dates advertised.

The programme for this year has not been cancelled but depending on your geographical location and the effect of the COVID19 pandemic, training courses may be cancelled. If you indicated during your annual re-registration with UK NEQAS that you were interested in attending any of the courses, you will receive an email communication informing you about whether the course will take place or not in your area. The dates and venues for the training courses this year can be found at <http://parasitologyprogramme.org.uk/> if you are reading this information from a different location.

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation with this matter. For further information, email the teaching programme manager using the following address: parasit.teach@ukneqas.org.uk
